Book Launch:

Vitaly: A Ukrainian-Russian American Story

“A story about reshaping identity, love, and the price of success, set against the backdrop of post-communist Eastern Europe.”

Nov. 9, 2023 | 7:00 PM | Durham Hall 109

Dr. Adrian Sangeorzan, MD is a Romanian-born poet/fiction writer who lives in New York. He is the author of several collections of short stories, poems and essays, including memoirs and novels published in the U.S., Europe and Asia: Exiled from the Womb – Tales of a Women’s Doctor, The Circus in Front of My House, Among Women, Masked World, and After the End.

James Ryan learned Romanian over 50 years ago at the Defense Language Institute in Monterey, California. Upon his retirement as an attorney, James continued his training as a literary translator in the Romanian Studies Department in the School on International Letters and Cultures at Arizona State University.