

Free Speech on Campus In the Wake of the Israel/Hamas War

The Center for Constitutional Design at the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law, Arizona State University, is pleased to present a panel discussion by four of the nation's leading free speech experts on the difficult issues arising on American campuses from the conflict in the Middle East.

The panel will explore, among other issues, the line between legitimate protest and unacceptably disruptive activity; the relationship between antizionist and antisemitic speech; and whether restrictions on campus expression has unduly suppressed pro-Palestinian speech.

We invite you to attend this important discussion on Thursday, January 30. Please RSVP below by Wednesday, January 29.

Thursday, January 30

5:30 p.m.

Doors open at 5 p.m.

W. P. Carey Foundation Armstrong Great Hall

RSVP here

*RSVP is required to attend

Featured Speakers:

Rebecca Brown
Professor of Law, USC

Erwin Chemerinsky
Dean, Berkeley Law

Robert Post
Professor of Law, Yale

Jeremy Waldon
Professor of Law, NYU

Moderator: James Weinstein
Professor of Law, ASU

This event is co-sponsored by:

- ASU School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership
- ASU Jewish Studies
- ASU Center for the Study of Religion and Conflict