

Fall Career Panel

DETAILS

- Friday, October 25
- 12:30 p.m.–2 p.m.
- SHESC Lobby
900 S. Cady Mall
Tempe, AZ 85281
- Lunch provided
- RSVP: <https://bit.ly/2HsWafd>

An alumni panel discussion featuring:

Katrina Johnston-Zimmerman

Lindy Institute for Urban Innovation

Johnston-Zimmerman is an applied urban anthropologist whose work focuses on human behavior in public space and the relationship between behavior and design. She is the project manager at the Lindy Institute for Urban Innovation at Drexel University, an adjunct professor at Drexel and a guest lecturer at the Royal Institute for Technology in Stockholm, Sweden. She is also the co-founder of the Women Led Cities Initiative.

Monica Trejo

NALEO Educational Fund

Trejo is a passionate educator and advocate who is committed to fighting for educational equity for all students in Arizona, and has worked in healthcare, entrepreneurship, policy and P-20 education. She currently serves as the Arizona Deputy Director of Constituency Services for the National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials Educational Fund. She is also the vice president of the board for the Tempe Elementary School District.

ASU Arizona State University

Sponsored by the School of Human Evolution and Social Change and Career and Professional Development Services