Tuesday, March 26, anytime between 6:30-8 p.m. | LSC Atrium

Calling all Conservation Biology and Ecology majors!

We are pleased to invite you to the inaugural Conservation Biology and Ecology Advising and Community Night!

Join us to learn about upcoming classes to fulfill the major requirements, meet faculty who teach your courses and major advisors, and most importantly meet other students in the major who are as passionate about the environment as you are.

If you are not yet a Conservation Biology and Ecology major but are interested in becoming one, please join us to meet your future community.

Come to the LSC Atrium anytime between 6:30-8 p.m. on March 26 for pizza, drinks and some fantastic conversation. You don’t need to show up at the beginning of the event. Just come by at some point during that time to say hi. See you there!
