

Cultural Resources in an Era of Shifting Government Policy

Friday, Nov. 16 • 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Cultural resources law has achieved heightened visibility in the United States in recent years in the wake of partisan debates and resistance movements. As American policy on historic and cultural properties, the environment, and indigenous rights begin to shift, many unsettled questions at the confluences of these areas of law and public policy are reemerging with increased urgency. This symposium seeks to bring together emerging scholars and cultural resources professionals in dialogue over current issues facing this growing field.

The symposium is free and open to the public. Lunch will be provided.

RVSP by Wednesday, November 14 to ilp@asu.edu

Beus Center for Law and Society
Room 644
111 E. Taylor Street
Phoenix, AZ 85004

ASU Sandra Day O'Connor
College of Law
Arizona State University
Indian Legal Program