

Development Reimagined

Post Colonial Guyana

A Fascinating Energy Paradox—Sun,
Wind, Oil, and Gas in a Green State

Gary Dirks, PhD, Director of the Julie Ann Wrigley Global Institute of Sustainability and LightWorks® Arizona State University

March 19, 2019

12-1 p.m.*

Tempe Campus

Coor 5536

Lunch will be provided*

Paloma Mohamed Martin, PhD, Deputy Vice Chancellor of PACE (Philanthropy, Alumni and Civic Engagement) University of Guyana

The Innovation in Global Development PhD program in the School for the Future of Innovation in Society at Arizona State University is pleased to announce its inaugural speaker series Development Reimagined: Innovative Views on Decolonizing Development. This semester the series is exploring the theme of decolonization within the development space as a way to interrogate current paradigms, and envision future strategies.

RSVP at: bit.ly/IGD-2