

Germany

Making Choices

Lecture Series

Broken Lives: How Ordinary Germans Experienced the 20th Century

Nov. 16 | 4:30-5:45 pm | Coor Hall 4403

Prof. Konrad Jarausch, Lurcy Professor of European Civilization at the University of North Carolina, has written or edited about 40 books on modern German, European and transatlantic history.

The Rise of Transatlantic Populism: Germany, the European Union, the US and the Politics of Anxiety

Nov. 20 | 4:30-5:45 pm | Coor Hall 4403

Prof. Crister Garrett is Professor of American History and Culture at the University of Leipzig in Germany. Both the recipient of Fulbright and German Academic Exchange Service funding, Prof. Garrett conducts research on contemporary American politics and society, especially in an international context.

Roundtable Discussion: Debates on Immigration and Asylum in the US & Germany

Nov. 21 | 4:30-5:45 pm | Coor Hall 4403

Alexander Aviña: Dr. Aviña is an Associate Professor of History in the School of Historical, Philosophical and Religious Studies (SHPRS) at ASU. His book "Specters of Revolution: Peasant Guerrillas in the Cold War Mexican Countryside" won the María Elena Martínez Mexican History Book Prize.

Wolf W. Kaufmann: Mr. Kaufmann serves as Honorary Consul of the Federal Republic of Germany in Phoenix, Ariz. He is also an attorney admitted to the Supreme Court in the State of California and to the Federal Courts. His law office focuses on immigration, detention and deportation cases.

Christiane Reves: Dr. Reves is an Instructor in the German Department in the School of International Letters and Cultures at ASU. Her book "From Citrus Peddlars to Wholesale Merchants? Networks and Migration Patterns of the Brentano Families in the 17th and 18th Centuries" was published in the series "Historical Migration Research" in 2012.

Moderator: Volker Benkert, Assistant Professor of History in SHPRS

School of Historical, Philosophical and Religious Studies
School of International Letters and Cultures

This series was made possible thanks to funding from the Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany in Washington, D.C

