Please join us for a talk with Kiara Boone on the Equal Justice Initiative’s racial justice work. This School of Politics and Global Studies event is co-sponsored by the ASU Global Human Rights Hub.

Kiara Boone is the deputy director of community education at the Equal Justice Initiative. In her role, Kiara works with EJI’s racial justice projects which are aimed at changing the narrative about America’s history of racial injustice through educational reports, videos, short films, local community efforts, and two new cultural spaces - The Legacy Museum and The National Memorial for Peace and Justice in Montgomery, Alabama. With EJI's Community Remembrance Project, Kiara helps to support community members across the country to memorialize documented victims of racial violence and foster meaningful dialogue about race and justice today.