Dr. CHRISTINE MARIN, Professor Emeritus

Dr. Christine Marin received her Ph.D. from Arizona State University. She is the founder of the prestigious Chicano/a Research Collection and Archives at the Hayden Library at ASU, Department of Archives and Special Collections. As Adjunct Faculty Associate at ASU for ten years, she taught courses on the history of Mexican Americans and Latinos for the Department of History; Transborder Studies; and Women & Gender Studies. Dr. Marin is among the “founders” of ASU’s School of Transborder Studies. Her dedication to the Arizona State University Chicano and Latino community is recognized by her colleagues, as the ASU Chicano/Latino Faculty & Staff Association has named an award in her honor, which is given yearly to a Chicano or Latino faculty or staff member for their outstanding service to ASU and its students.

At Arizona State University, Dr. Marin is Emeritus Affiliate in the Department of Women and Gender Studies and Emeritus Faculty in the School of Transborder Studies. Dr. Marin served as a Member of the Board of Directors for the Arizona Humanities and currently serves as an Advisory Board Member for the Raul Castro Institute at Phoenix College, and as President of the Arizona Women’s Heritage Trail, an Arizona Centennial Legacy Project. She also serves on the Board of Directors, Arizona Women’s Hall of Fame, and is a member of Selection Committees for the Arizona Women’s Hall of Fame, the Arizona Women’s Heritage Trail, and for the Arizona Latina Trailblazers. In 2014, Dr. Marin was inducted into the Globe High School Hall of Fame, and recognized for her work as an Educator and for her academic scholarship and achievement.

Dr. Marin is a proud native of the copper mining community of Globe, Arizona. She is presently researching the history and stories of African American women in Globe and Miami, Arizona.

Maricopa County Recorder Adrian Fontes

Adrian Fontes is an Arizona native born and raised on the border in Nogales. His active duty service in the United States Marine Corps solidified his love of country and made him a strong advocate of the US Constitution. He took this passion back to finish his undergraduate degree with summa cum laude honors at Arizona State University, and then to the University of Denver where he received his Juris Doctorate. After law school, Mr. Fontes worked for the Denver DA’s Office prior to returning to Arizona to continue his prosecuting career with the Maricopa County Attorney and then the Arizona Attorney General. With the Arizona AG, he headed the Foreign Prosecution Unit in the Fraud and Public Corruption Section of that office. Mr. Fontes left government service for private practice where he made his way from working in local Justice Courts, through Superior Courts and eventually to several cases before the US Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit.

Adrian Fontes lives in Phoenix with his wife Mona and their three daughters. He is an avid musician, college football fan and supporter of his community.

Adrian Fontes is a member of the National Association of Counties Telecommunications and Technology Policy Steering Committee and is working on the requirements to achieve a Certified Elections/Registration Administrator (CERA) designation. CERA is the elections profession’s highest designation.

Adrian Fontes serves as the 29th Recorder and is the first Latino to serve as a countywide elected official in Maricopa County, Arizona.
