Join the School of Politics and Global Studies for a talk and discussion with Dr. Mike Slaven, Senior Lecturer in International Politics at the University of Lincoln.

Mike Slaven is the author of Securing Borders, Securing Power: The Rise and Decline of Arizona’s Border Politics (Columbia University Press, 2022). An Arizona native, he worked as a speechwriter in the Arizona governor’s office from 2007 to 2009 and for the U.S. secretary of homeland security from 2009 to 2011. He went to the UK as a Fulbright Scholar, and is now a senior lecturer (assistant professor) in international politics at the University of Lincoln in England, where he teaches about and researches immigration control in Europe and the USA.