How can one plan to only teach at start-up universities around the globe? How does one end up working in countries from his travel bucket list? And most importantly, which country makes the most delicious fried chicken in this world? Come to this week's T.A.L.E. (Tuesday Afternoon Learning Extravaganza) to find out the answers and much more! Professor Faheem Hussain will share stories of his travels and educational experiences.

FREE fried chicken will be provided.
